Our ambition - 2031

Introduction

10 years of change: A bid plan and legacy strategy for the 2031 Special Olympics World Games

Great Britain is considering bidding for the right to host the Special Olympics World Games in 2031. This represents a key element of the Special Olympics Great Britain Inclusion In Action strategic plan, which supports the international movement's drive to contribute to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. Initial discussions have been held between the Cabinet Office, Special Olympics GB (SOGB) and other key stakeholders.

A successful major sporting event bid requires visionary thinking and a detailed and realistic implementation plan, coordinated between a wide network of partners and industries. This document, created in partnership between SOGB and thinkBeyond, sets out the vision for change that we think is achievable by 2034.

It defines where we want to get to and how we can get there using world-class organisations and experts to create systemic change across Great Britain. We have also created a high-level approach for the development of a bid organisation and successful event bid book. The structure below shows the different sections covered.

The opportunity:

How can we create 10 years of change?

Outcome-led strategy:

Using a Theory of Change to build a strategy

Programmes:

What could the strategy look like in practice?

Bid book development:

Bidding to host a worldclass SO World Games

Please note, this document is designed to prompt discussion and build the case for a co-ordinated and highly effective bid. The strategy will develop and be enhanced throughout these conversations, and should therefore be seen as a starting point rather than a destination. Everything and anything in this document is up for discussion and will be revisited alongside our partners, athletes and advisors over the bidding period.

Re-imagining legacy

The UK has an opportunity to bid for the 2031 World Games and momentum is building

This would be a new event for the UK, not just in terms of operational event delivery.

A UK World Games has the power to drive systemic change and to improve the lives of the ~1.5m people with an intellectual disability in the UK, as well as millions of friends, family and organisations in their networks.

A successful event and legacy would look different from what we are used to seeing in the UK. The event would be a catalyst and a milestone within an ambitious and wide-reaching 10-year programme of change.

The UK already has a highly effective network of organisations supporting people with Intellectual Disabilities, including Special Olympics GB and several national, regional and local charities.

Accelerating ten years of change

A 2031 bid should be the start of our 10yr vision and a catalyst for change
